9. Cookies used on the Website

A cookie is a series of textual information that the Website transmits to a small file on the hard drive of the affected user's computer or mobile device. A cookie typically contains the name of the computer domain from which the cookie arrived, as well as the cookie expiration date and a randomly generated number (value).

The cookies used by the Website serve several purposes. Some cookies are technically necessary for the operation of the site, as without them the site and its basic functions would not be usable. Some cookies make it easier to use the Website by remembering the visitor's actions and personal settings (such as language, font size and other custom settings related to the display of the website) for a certain period of time, so that the visitor does not have to re-enter them at each visit, or when navigating from one site to another. There are cookies that are used to increase the performance of the Website by collecting information and reporting statistics on the use thereof. Some cookies serve advertising purposes by displaying the advertisements the visitors find the most interesting.

Cookies can be divided into the following categories:

Session cookies: temporary cookies that remain in the cookie folder of the affected Internet browser until the user leaves the Website and are automatically deleted at the end of the session or when the browser is closed. These cookies are necessary, among other things, for browsing the website and using the functions thereof, remembering the actions performed by the visitor on the website, or relating to a specific function or service.

Usage Cookies: Their purpose is to make the Website remember the settings and method users visited the Website, all this to ensure that the visitor do not have to submit such information on their next visit. Without the data contained in the cookies storing users' preferences, our website would surely operate less smoothly.

Performance and statistical cookies: cookies that are used by the Data Controller to collect information about how visitors use the Website, which pages they visited, what sessions they started thereon, how long have they visited the website and how long the session in question lasted. The purpose of using these cookies is to give the Data Controller an idea of the use of the Website and to further develop and provide a user-friendly experience for all visitors.

Advertising, marketing cookies: these cookies can be used to display interesting advertisements to the affected visitor of the Website or to increase the effectiveness of its own marketing. For example, cookies of this category can remember a visitor's recent searches, past interactions with individual advertisers' ads or search results, together with visits to advertisers' websites, and by analysing the related data the further facilitate the placement of even more relevant advertisements.

10. Data security

The collection and storage of personal data and any other data processing activities in accordance with the purpose of data processing shall be carried out in such a way that the data cannot be accessed by unauthorised persons.

For the security of personal data, the Data Controller shall take physical and technical measures to prevent unauthorised access to, alteration, transfer or intentional and accidental deletion of such data. While doing so, the electronically recorded data shall be stored on a data carrier with state-of-the-art protection (firewall, password), and access to every piece of such data shall also be password protected. The Data Controller shall regularly back up the recorded personal data. Personal data shall only be accessed within the Data Controller's organisation by the above-mentioned persons and only if this is necessary for the performance of their tasks.

11. Rights and legal remedies related to data management

The data subject may request from the Data Controller access to, rectification, erasure or restriction of the processing of personal data concerning him / her and may object to the processing of such personal data.

The data subject shall be entitled to withdraw his / her consent to the processing of his / her personal data at any time. The withdrawal shall not affect the lawfulness of the data processing carried out prior to the withdrawal on the basis of consent.

The data subject shall be entitled to receive feedback from the Data Controller as to whether his /her personal data is being processed. At the request of the data subject, the Data Controller shall inform the data subject whether his / her personal data is processed by the Data Controller himself or by a data processor instructed by him or acting on his behalf. If data processing is in progress, the data subject has the right to receive information on the source of the personal data processed, the purposes and legal grounds of the data processing, the scope and categories of personal data concerned, the recipients of data transfer and the period of retaining of personal data (if this is not possible, the criteria for determining this period), the related rights and how to enforce them, in the case of profiling on the fact thereof, on the circumstances of the occurrence of data protection incidents in connection with the processing of the data subject's personal data, their effects and the measures taken to deal therewith.

At the request of the data subject the Data Controller shall immediately correct or correct any personal data processed if it proves to be inaccurate, incorrect or incomplete.

The Data Controller shall provide the data subject with a copy of the personal data processed. For further copies, the Data Controller shall be entitled to charge a reasonable fee based on administrative costs. If the application has been submitted electronically, such information shall be provided in a widely used electronic format, unless the data subject requests otherwise.

Personal data shall be erased if:

- the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise
- processed;
- the data subject withdraws consent on which the processing and there is no other legal ground for the processing;
- the data subject objects to the data processing and there is no overriding legitimate reason for the data processing or the data subject objects to the data processing pursuant to Article 21 (2) of the Regulation;
- the personal data have been unlawfully processed;
- the personal data have to be erased for compliance with a legal obligation in Union or Member State law to which
- the dc is subject;
- the personal data have been collected in relation to the offer of information society services to children.
- the erasure of the personal data has been ordered by law, a legal act of the European Union, a data protection authority or a court.

The data subject shall have the right to obtain from the controller restriction of processing where one of the following applies:

- the accuracy of the personal data is contested by the data subject, for a period enabling the Data Controller to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- the processing is unlawful, but on the basis of the data subject's written statement or the information available to the Data Controller, there is a reasonable presumption that the deletion of such data would harm the data subject's legitimate interests. The restriction is for the duration of the legitimate interest justifying the non-cancellation;

- the Data Controller no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of the processing, but they are required by the data subject for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or
- the data subject has objected to processing pending the verification whether the legitimate grounds of the controller override those of the data subject.

The data subject shall have the right to receive the personal data concerning him or her, which he or she has provided to the data controller, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit those data to another data controller.

The data subject shall have the right to object, on grounds relating to his or her particular situation, at any time to processing of personal data concerning him or her which is based on:

- processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the data controller;
- processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by the controller or by a third party.

In such a case the data controller shall no longer process the personal data unless the data controller demonstrates compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the data subject or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

Where personal data are processed for direct marketing purposes, the data subject shall have the right to object at any time to processing of personal data concerning him or her for such marketing, which includes profiling to the extent that it is related to such direct marketing.

When the personal data breach is likely to result in a high risk to the rights and freedoms of natural persons, the controller shall communicate the personal data breach to the data subject without undue delay.

In the above cases you can submit your application to RED BERILL EUROPE KFT. (address: 1027 Budapest, Horvát u. 14-24; Telephone number: + 06-1-299-0800. e-mail address: customerservice@bigsexmap.com). The controller shall provide information on action taken on such a request to the data subject without undue delay within one month of receipt of the request.

That period may be extended by two further months where necessary, taking into account the complexity and number of the requests. The controller shall inform the data subject of any such extension within 25 days of receipt of the request, together with the reasons for the delay. Where the data subject makes the request by electronic form means, the information shall be provided by electronic means where possible, unless otherwise requested by the data subject.

If the controller does not take action on the request of the data subject, the data controller shall inform the data subject without delay and at the latest within one month of receipt of the request of the reasons for not taking action. In the event of not taking action or in connection with the action taken the data subject shall be entitled to lodge a complaint with the independent data protection supervisory authority and have the right to exercise judicial remedy. The data subject shall be entitled to initiate proceedings before the supervisory authority if there has been or there is an imminent threat of an impairment of a right in connection with the processing of personal data.
